1. NATURE OF GRANTS

Fulbright grants consist of

- A monetary award to support travel, living and related expense to the U.S.
- Accident and emergency insurance
- J-1 visa administration
- Cultural / orientation programming

Grants should NOT be for periods of less than three months or more than 12 months, including extensions. Grants must be taken up in one continuous period within the academic year.

A grant may be revoked, terminated, or suspended. Grounds for revocation or termination include, but are not limited to: (1) violation of any law of the United States or the home country; (2) any act likely to give offense to the United States; (3) failure to observe satisfactory academic or professional standards; (4) physical or mental incapacitation; (5) engaging in any unauthorized income-producing activity; (6) failure to comply with the grant's terms and conditions; (7) material misrepresentation made by any grantee in the application form or grant document; (8) conduct which may have the effect of bringing the U.S. Department of State or the Fulbright Program into disrepute; and (9) violation of the policies of the J. William Fulbright Foreign Scholarship Board (FSB).

A grant may be suspended if (1) the grantee ceases to carry out the project or academic program during the grant period or (2) the grantee leaves the United States for more than two weeks without authorization of the Fulbright Commission/U.S. Embassy or supervising agency.

2. ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

Potential applicants should ensure that they meet the following eligibility criteria before applying:

 - Applicants with extensive previous experience in the United States (e.g. currently studying at, or recently graduated from a U.S. academic institution, resident in the U.S. currently), or for five or more years in the previous six years. This does not include short term periods in the U.S. e.g. J1 summer visas, however preference may be given to applicants without prior experience in the U.S.). Those currently in the US on the visa waiver program during the application period are eligible.
 - Scholars and their dependents who have held J visas with sponsorship of more than six months are not eligible to re-enter as J-1 researchers or lecturers for 12 months following the program sponsorship end date. In addition, scholars who have previously held a J visa in the professor or research scholar category are not eligible for sponsorship again in those two categories for a period of 24 months following the program sponsorship end date

PLEASE NOTE: Fulbright Scholars enter the United States on an Exchange Visitor (J-1) visa under a U.S. Department of State program and ARE SUBJECT TO THE TWO-YEAR HOME-COUNTRY RESIDENCY REQUIREMENT associated with the J-1 visa. This requirement means that candidates will not be eligible for a U.S. residency or work visa until they have fulfilled the two-year home residency requirement. Visits to the U.S. on a visa waiver are permitted during this time.

Applicants who meet the citizenship requirements should ensure that they meet the following criteria before applying:

- Scholar / Professional Status: Academic candidates must have a PhD conferred prior to starting their grant. Professional candidates must have a minimum of 5 years professional experience in their field of study. Deaf studies, visual and performing arts applicants may be exempt from the requirements to have a third level qualification if they have 5 or more years of professional qualifications and or experience.
- A clearly defined project statement of proposed activity at a U.S. institution: The proposed project should contribute to the development of knowledge in your field and must be effectively implemented within a 3-12 months' time frame in the U.S. Applicants must choose 1 of the 3 categories of scholar awards:
 - Lecturing: If the primary purpose of the project is to teach or team-teach at least one full semester course. Applicants will be required to submit course syllabi along with a confirmed invitation to lecture
 - Research: If the primary purpose of the project is to conduct research. Applicants will be required to submit a research bibliography

Grants are not for the sole purpose of:

- Attending conferences
- Completing doctoral dissertations
- Travel and consultation at multiple institutions

- Clinical medical research involving patient contact: The U.S. Department of State has designated the Educational Commission for Foreign Medical Graduates (ECFMG) as the sole agency authorized to sponsor alien physicians for internship, residency and specialized clinical training in the United States. Fulbright grantees cannot simultaneously be sponsored by ECFMG; therefore, proposals for medical research involving clinical training, patient care or patient contact cannot be approved under the Fulbright Program.

In addition you should note the following conditions affecting review and selection of candidates:

- Applicants will be considered without regard to race, religion, sex, age, and/or physical impairment
- Preference is given to those without recent experience in the United States
- Applicants should be representative and responsible citizens who can contribute to a full and fair picture of the culture of their own countries and thereby contribute to understanding between the people of the United States and their country
- Applicants should demonstrate the cross-cultural sensitivity and flexibility needed to adjust successfully to life in the United States.

Please contact awards@fulbright.ie if you have any questions regarding your eligibility.

Please note: A number of Fulbright sponsored awards have more specific eligibility criteria than the general student / scholar guidelines, see the relevant sponsored award flyer for further details.

3. FIRST STEPS

- Review the application instructions / process: Read these guidelines in their entirety to ensure you understand what is required.
- Plan ahead— Advance planning will give you as much time as possible to put together a thoughtful and compelling application. Applicant review and final selection are based upon the actual application and accompanying materials.
- Consult with colleagues— You are encouraged to consult with current or former Fulbright Scholars from Ireland or the United States. Fulbright alumni and current participants can provide valuable guidance in formulating a competitive project statement.
- Make arrangements for affiliation with a U.S. host institution
 - One of the most important components of the Fulbright Scholar Program is a formal affiliation at an U.S. University or research institution. In many cases, applicants are in contact with colleagues at U.S. institutions and have made preliminary plans for their own placements by securing a letter of invitation from the prospective host institution. However, if you are unable to make these preliminary contacts, you are strongly encouraged to identify three institutions that have appropriate facilities for the kind of project you wish to undertake and faculty members specializing in your research interests. Please indicate the rationale for your preferences. Candidates will not need an official letter of acceptance/affiliation until spring/summer 2019 before commencing the award.
 - When determining which institutions to include on your preferred list, do not limit yourself to only large research institutes and the most well-known U.S. universities. Consider listing other institutions such as community colleges, regional universities or Minority-Serving Institutions (which include Historically Black Colleges and Universities, Hispanic-Serving Institutions and Tribal Colleges and Universities). These institutions are often engaged in many dynamic areas of teaching and research. Though many U.S. institutions may not have an international reputation, they often do have appropriate facilities for scholars to conduct research. Scholars placed in these smaller and less well-known institutions often are given greater attention than their colleagues who are affiliated with larger and more well-known universities
 - If you have studied previously in the United States, you should avoid seeking affiliation at your U.S. alma mater/previous host institution. This is to ensure that you expand your contacts within the U.S. academic community

- The task of affiliation is substantially facilitated if you have a project that is clearly defined and well-written, as prospective host institutions also want to be assured that you can conduct research effectively.

Review the application instructions / process: Read these guidelines in their entirety to ensure you understand what is required.

Therefore please list funds available from your own or other sources (e.g. sabbatical pay, research funds, personal funds, etc.) to support your and your dependents' stay in the U.S. if successful. THE PROJECT STATEMENT

The project statement is an important component of the Fulbright application. It informs the short-listing process. Therefore it is essential that the project statement

- is compelling, theoretically sound, well-written and feasible for the time proposed in the US
- does not exceed the character limit of the proposal (three to five single-sided pages; 3,500 words)
- begins with your name, country and project title at the top of page one. At the top of each subsequent page, type your name and country.
- is organized and provides responses to ALL of the following points, which appear in bold print below. Use them as headings for sections of text in your statement and do not devote the entire space available to the Background.

GUIDELINES FOR A RESEARCH OR PROGRAM / CURRICULUM DEVELOPMENT PROJECT

Background: Briefly introduce the research topic. Place the project in academic or professional context by referring to major works by others on the subject. Clearly identify the element to be conducted in the US.

Objectives: Clearly define the aims of the project to be conducted in the U.S.

Methodology/Duration: Explain the approach, methods and plan you will use (for example, interviews, library or archival research, or laboratory experiments). Indicate whether the proposed research is quantitative or qualitative. Outline the specific timeframe / stages for your project in the U.S. Please note that Scholar awards are for a minimum of 3 months and maximum of 12 months.

Significance: Explain the importance of the project for the field, your home country and your own professional development. Indicate what effect you expect the opportunity to have on your teaching or professional work in your home country. (For example: new approaches to curriculum planning, student advising or pedagogy; expanding knowledge in the field through collaboration with U.S. colleagues). Describe briefly the expected impact of your participation on your home institution, community or professional field.

Evaluation and Dissemination: Describe plans for assessment and distribution of research results in your home country and elsewhere.

Justification for Residence in the United States for the Proposed Project: Indicate why it is necessary to conduct the research onsite in the United States.

Other: If applicable, indicate the quantity, format and transportation requirements for any botanical, zoological or mineral samples that you will need to bring to the United States for analysis.

GUIDELINES FOR A LECTURING PROPOSAL

Teaching Experience: Describe the range of courses you have taught, including the teaching methods used. Indicate your involvement, if any, in curriculum planning, thesis guidance and administrative responsibilities. Explain how your experience will be relevant to your proposed teaching in the United States.

Proposed Teaching: Explain what you propose to teach in the United States. Upload Course Syllabi on Page 8.

Expected Outcomes: Indicate what effect you expect the opportunity to have on your teaching or professional work in your home country (for example, new approaches to curriculum planning, student advising or pedagogy; expanding knowledge in the field through collaboration with U.S. colleagues). Describe briefly the expected impact of your participation on your home institution, community or professional field.

ADDITIONAL CONTENT RECOMMENDATIONS

- Submit a clear and complete project statement that introduces you professionally to the interview panel and your colleagues in the United States. The best applications are those that reflect the applicant's purpose and intent
- Make sure that your qualifications and expertise match the objectives in your project statement. You should be able to show that you are qualified to accomplish what you are proposing to do
- Emphasize how your project will benefit the host institution or other scholars in your field both in Ireland and in the United States. Address in your project statement the ways in which you will use the experience upon your return. What is the likely impact of your experience abroad? How will you use what you learned upon your return, professionally and personally?
- Discuss any preparatory steps you have taken or will take before starting your grant. For example, if you plan to bring samples of plants, chemicals, human tissue, etc., indicate that you have discussed your plans with the U.S. Embassy and your prospective host, if known, in order to determine what clearance and approval processes are needed
- Connect your past experience to what you are preparing to do if you receive an award. Explain the project's significance and its importance to the field. Focus on what can be reasonably accomplished during the period of the grant
- Do not assume that your suitability for the project is self-evident. Your standing in your field may not be well known to reviewers. You need to make a case for yourself based on your past experience and current scholarly endeavors. Explain the significance of your project in language that will be understood by reviewers from outside your field
- Do not stress only how a Fulbright grant will benefit you or your career. Remember that the program is intended to foster mutual understanding between cultures and nations
- Be specific in describing your previous work and in laying out the nature of your proposed Fulbright activity. A frequent failing in applications is that the proposal is underdeveloped or too imprecise to give reviewers a clear sense of the endeavor

STYLE RECOMMENDATIONS

- Express what you can bring to the program clearly and succinctly. Think of the basic questions that need to be answered: Why should I apply for a Fulbright award to come to the United States? If selected, what will I do and how will I do it? What preparations have I made to complete the project? What can I contribute to the Fulbright Program? What will the results of my participation be? Include only the most pertinent information in forming your responses so as not to exceed the page restrictions. At the same time, you should avoid writing a proposal so brief that it will be difficult for the reviewer to understand the project.
- Emphasize key points in the first paragraph of the proposal. Reviewers examine many Fulbright applications, and having to search for the main points of the proposed activity is not helpful. You should grab the reviewer's attention quickly and state clearly what you want to do, why it is important and how you will do it. You should use the rest of the proposal to support your statements in the opening paragraphs.
- Pay attention to style in your proposal. You may want to use the first person, but you should avoid flooding your proposal with "I's" or referring to yourself in the third person
- Keep your proposal simple and straightforward so that an educated reader from another discipline can understand it

CURRICULUM VITAE

The curriculum vitae describes academic credentials and demonstrates a record of scholarly achievements (document should not exceed six pages). When composing a curriculum vitae, it is important to include:

- Education (universities attended, degrees earned and dates received)
- Professional positions held
- Courses taught and other services provided to students and the home institution
- Publications (provide full citations and list them starting with the most recent)
- Other professional activities, such as workshops, seminars and consultations
- Membership and activities in professional associations
- Professional honors, awards and fellowships
- Community service

The application asks for similar information, but provides limited space for answers. In the curriculum vitae, you should expand upon these topics to present more completely your accomplishments. Note: Copies of diplomas are not required.

LETTERS OF INVITATION

- Letters of invitation should be typed on institutional letterhead and signed
- Scanned copies should be attached here
- Invitations do not ensure selection for an award
- If an invitation arrives after the application deadline, please email a scanned copy through to the awards@fulbright.ie

ENGLISH LANGUAGE PROFICIENCY: Not required by the Fulbright Commission in Ireland.

FINANCIAL SUPPORT / BUDGET: Please ensure you have listed alternate funds available from your own or other sources (e.g. sabbatical pay, research funds, personal funds, etc.) to support your and your dependents' stay in the U.S. if successful. N.B. Fulbright Awardees receive accident and emergency insurance but some institutions require additional insurance cover so you may consider the cost of insurance with the institution should this cost arise. WE DO NOT REQUIRE A BUDGET OUTLINE.

J-1 / J-2 VISAS: Applicants are requested to upload copies of previous / current visas for themselves and accompanying dependents.

PASSPORT: Applicants are requested to upload a colour copy of the bio-data page of their and accompany dependents' passports.

BIBLIOGRAPHY: For research and lecturing / research proposals, provide a list of one to three pages of references relevant to the proposed research.

LETTER OF SUPPORT FROM HOME INSTITUTION: Not required by the Fulbright Commission in Ireland.

ADDITIONAL DOCUMENTATION

- NB: FOR ALL SCHOLAR APPLICANTS: Fulbright Statement:
